Have you ever dreamed about owning your own private island? How about FIVE? Don't miss out on this unique opportunity to have a slice of Paradise. There's a beach with access from the canal on the east side of the largest island where boats may anchor on the beach, or boating access may be gained from either end of the canal through this island. Two canals were dug through the two largest islands when a commercial shrimp farm was attempted at the site in the 1960's. Since abandoned, different individuals have come up with "conspiracy theories" from submarine pits dug by the government to drug runners in the 50's 60's and 70's. You can carve your own piece of history when you are the new owner of Tarpon Belly Keys!
